OBAMA TO WIN NH! SHAHEEN STILL LEADS SENATE RACE

Durham, NH – Barack Obama looks to win New Hampshire by a comfortable margin on Tuesday. In the race for U.S. Senate, Shaheen should win a narrow victory over incumbent John Sununu. In Congressional races, incumbent Paul Hodes is predicted to win New Hampshire's 2nd District and incumbent Carol Shea-Porter looks to pull out a narrow victory in the 1st District.

These findings are based on the 2008 WMUR / UNH New Hampshire Tracking Poll, conducted by the University of New Hampshire Survey Center. This survey is sponsored by WMUR-TV Manchester and the University of New Hampshire.* Eight hundred thirty-one (831) likely New Hampshire voters were interviewed between October 30 and November 2, 2008. The potential sampling error for the statewide survey is +/-3.4%. Four hundred twenty-five (425) likely 1st District voters were surveyed (margin of sampling error of +/- 4.8%) and 406 likely 2nd District voters were interviewed (margin of sampling error +/-4.9%). For more information about the WMUR / UNH Election Tracking Poll, go to www.unh.edu/survey-center/news/pdf/e2008\_track08meth.pdf.

President

Democrat Barack Obama has held on to his sizeable lead over Republican John McCain and looks to win New Hampshire's 4 electoral votes on Tuesday. In the final WMUR / UNH Tracking Poll, Obama is supported by 53% of likely New Hampshire voters, 42% favor McCain, 1% prefer some other candidate and 4% are undecided.

When undecided voters are allocated to the candidate they are most likely to support, Obama is predicted to get 54% of the New Hampshire vote, McCain gets 45%, and other candidates get 1%.

* We ask that this copyrighted information be referred to as the WMUR / UNH New Hampshire Tracking Poll, sponsored by WMUR-TV and the University of New Hampshire Survey Center.

While McCain has seen his support among self-identified Republicans grow stronger in recent days, his support among Independent voters is not strong enough to compensate for there being more Democratic than Republican voters in New Hampshire. Currently, McCain receives support from 89% of self-identified Republicans but Obama has consistently received support from more than 90% of self-identified Democrats.

The most significant reason that Obama and all other Democratic candidates are likely to do well on Tuesday is that core Democratic voters significantly outnumber core Republican voters in New Hampshire. Core Democrats make up 46% of the 2008 electorate, up from 37% in 2004 and 33% in 2000. Republican's share of the New Hampshire electorate has plummeted to 33%, down from 38% in 2004 and 38% in 2000.

Core Partisanship of NH Electorate: 2000 – 2008
WMUR / UNH Survey Center Final Pre-Election Poll

The most important issue in the presidential campaign to New Hampshire voters continues to be jobs and the economy (47%), followed by health care (9%), the war in Iraq (8%), the campaign against terrorism (6%), and the recent stock market crash (4%). Economic concerns have topped the list of important issues to New Hampshire voters since mid-summer.

Most Important Issue in Presidential Campaign

US Senate

Former Governor Jeanne Shaheen looks to win the rematch of her 2002 election with incumbent Republican John Sununu. In the final WMUR / UNH Tracking Poll, 48% of likely New Hampshire voters say they will vote for Shaheen, 42% will vote for Sununu, 1% prefer some other candidate, and 9% are undecided. When undecided voters are allocated to the candidate they are most likely to support, the final prediction is 52% for Shaheen, 47% for Sununu, and 1% for other candidates.

NH First District

The race in New Hampshire's First Congressional District incumbent Democrat Carol Shea-Porter looks to win in a rematch of her 2006 win over former incumbent Republican Jeb Bradley. In the final WMUR / UNH Tracking Poll, 46% of likely 1st District voters say they will vote for Shea-Porter, 41% favor Bradley, 2% prefer some other candidate, and 11% remain undecided. When undecided voters are allocated to the candidate they are most likely to support, the final prediction is 51% for Shea-Porter, 47% for Bradley, and 2% for other candidates.

NH Second District

In the 2nd District, incumbent Democrat Paul Hodes should comfortably win reelection. In the final WMUR / UNH Tracking poll, 52% of likely voters in the 2nd District say they will vote for Hodes, 31% say they will vote for Horn, and 16% remain undecided. When undecided voters are allocated to the candidate they are most likely to support, the final prediction is 59% for Hodes, 40% for Horn, and 1% for other candidates.

NH Governor

Incumbent John Lynch will win an easy victory over Republican Joe Kenney in the race for New Hampshire Governor. In the final WMUR / UNH Tracking poll, Lynch leads Kenney by a 67% to 20% margin with 1% favoring some other candidate, and 12% undecided. When undecided voters are allocated to the candidate they are most likely to support, the final prediction is 74% for Lynch, 25% for Kenney, and 1% for other candidates.

The most important issue in the governor's race are jobs and the economy (25%), taxes (22%), education funding (15%), the state budget (13%), and health care (6%).

NH Senate

Democrats continue to lead in generic ballots for the New Hampshire Senate – 47% of likely voters say they plan to vote for the Democrat in their State Senate district, 35% plan to vote for the Republican, 1% prefer some other candidate, and 17% are undecided. Democrats should maintain their 14 to 10 seat majority in the Senate.

NH House

Democrats also lead in generic ballots for the New Hampshire House -- 44% of likely voters say they plan to vote for the Democrat in their State House district, 35% plan to vote for the Republican, 1% prefer some other candidate and 21% are undecided. Republicans are likely to pick up seats in the State House, but Democrats should maintain their majority.
